

Weekly Log Activity

7 Feb 2023.

During the first meeting we defined our project and the direction it was going to take. Later we took care of investigating more about the problem and the solutions that existed.

13 Feb 2023.

Throughout the week we take care of organizing all the information on which we are going to work, we define the most important points of the information we need, and we prepare surveys through Google forms that will help us to collect information from the students. We also take care of organizing the following week's activities for team members.

Later we intend to use the information collected as a more solid starting point for the elaboration of the project.

27 Feb 2023.

During this week we take care of creating and working on the repository. It was also one of the most advanced weeks on our project, as we began to focus on delivering the artifacts from the first installment. We define the people, scenarios, users and methodologies.

In addition, we apply a second survey focused specifically on people who have left their studies.
